$800,000 NILES ROAD WORK STARTS

AROUND the TOWNSHIP

Ben Mathews, who made the parachute jump at the Fourth of July celebration last Saturday, has lived in Centerville for two years. He has made about 35 jumps and learned the feat while in the army.

Jack owns two chutes and says that, while jumping becomes an old story to most men who engage in it regularly, they never fail to feel nervous just before the plunge.

July 4 was the anniversary date for two local men. E. H. Farrington on that date had made his daily cream deliveries for the 2000th consecutive time without missing a day.

Frank Nunes first came to Washington Township on July 4, 42 years ago. He was a youth in his teens at that time. "I first went to work for W. H. Ford. I made 85 cents for my first day's work and I thought I was in the money. I continued to work around Niles and managed to save a little bit while contributing to the support of five brothers and sisters. Young fellows nowodays don't know what hard times are." Frank always wears a rabbit's foot on his shirt front. When asked why he wears it, he says "just to make people ask questions." He denies he is superstitious or that the emblem has any special meaning for him."

Coconuts as big around as marbles can be found under two coconut palms growing on the Shinn place. While hardly a commercial crop in the sense that they can provide oil or furnish much in the way of food, the little things are very tasty. The Shinn family says they never grow to any size but that the crop is unfailing.

Sam Kerns is working daytimes at the Schuckl cannery in Sunnyvale and running his service station by night. He is foreman over there in a department that has about 100 pretty girls in it—at least, that's what Sam says. Some guys are naturally lucky.

The rivalry between Ray Pond and Joe California of Irvington as to which of them is the best skater grows apace. Each thinks he is winning. When you talk to Pond, he tells about the fancy figure-eights he's doing now and how he can go around corners in high. When you tell Joe what Ray is saying, he says, "Let him brag—but just come to the rink and watch us and see who falls down the most."

Alvarado is the national headquarters of the Japanese Fencing association. Enthusiastic fencers from all parts of the bay district gather there two nights each week to learn the ancient art. Some nights there are as many as 60 persons attending the practice.

Louis Ruschin says that the reason Newark has dial phones, while the rest of the township still cranks, lies in the fact that the telephone company realizes that Newark people are smarter than other and can adapt themselves to ne wgadgets rapidly.

MULLER TELLS OF GOOD FISHING IN BAY POINT WATERS

Last wek-end, he went with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor on their boat, the Seven Seas, on a fishing excursion which netted him the limit. "The Taylors seem to know where the fish are," Muller comments. "I never fail to make a good catch when I go out with them. Their boat is a marvel. They recently returned from the south seas in it."

Democrats Collect Funds for Campaign

CENTERVILLE—The Washington Township Democratic club collected $52.85 as its share toward the national "On With Roosevelt" campaign at its regular meeting in Parish hall Monday night.

High enthusiasm was shown by the 30 members present over prospects for re-election of the party leader. A board of directors was named and campaign committeemen were selected for each community in the township.

New club directors are Bill Marshall of Decoto, George Corey of Irvington, Fred Reader of Newark, George Kommes of Centerville, Frank Vargas of Niles, Albert Silverra of Warm Springs and Leland Steinmetz of Mission San Jose.

Campaign managers in the various communities will be Jerry Margarido and Frank Vargas in Niles, T. J. Power in Irvington, John Dutra and James Collins in Newark, Steinmetz in Mission San Jose and Marsall in Decoto.

Many members of the club exchanged campaign information and material at the Monday evening meeting. Power spoke on the character and background of John Hamilton, new Republican campaign manager. He quoted an article in a Sacramento paper which characterized Hamilton as an ultra conservative Republican.

Frank Vargas of Niles spoke at length on the reasons for Roosevelt support by organized labor. He cited the difficulties encountered in getting suitable railroad pension laws passed owing to supreme court rulings.

President Louis Ruschin of the club answtred Republican criticism of the New Deal's heavy debt by saying that most of the money is simply loaned at interest to stimulate business and that it will be repaid in time.

Plans for bringing in outside speakers as the campaign warms up were discussed by the group and members pledged themselves to bring in recruits to future meetings. Minor changes covering committee appointments in the club constitution were voted and all bills were paid.

Next meeting will be the first Monday in August.

EMERYVILLE WINS PRIZE ON JULY 4TH

CENTERVILLE — 10,000 persons lined the streets of Centerville last Saturday morning to witness the most successful parade ever presented there.

Long before the parade started, the streets were so jammed with cars that state highway partolmen had to reroute the vehicles along side streets and roads.

Emeryville post's drum and bugle corps took first place in the contest in a close contest with two other corps.

One colorful feature of the procession was the appearance of many horsemen. Following the Silva-Andrade ranch float, which was drawn by a six-in-hand team of gray draft horses, were 33 riders who gave the parade an atmosphere of the old west.

The Japanese-American Citizens' league carried the patriotic motif to a high point with its gorgeous white float topped by the Goddess of Liberty. Other unusual moving displays were furnished by Innes-Cloverdale dairy, Nagli's dairy, and the Jas. Graham Mfg. Co.

The Centerville Machine Shop struck a timely note with its float showing a badly smashed automobile and a sign urging safer driving.

Crowds thronged from the parade to the high school grounds during the afternoon to witness the drum and bugle corps contest, hear the speeches and see the parachute jump.

Judge Lincoln S. Church addressed the holiday crowd on the need for education to bring the United States out of the present troubulous times. On the speaker's platform were Frank Madruga, general chairman for the fourth celebration, Harry De Leon, new Lions club president, and Judge Allen G. Norris, retiring president.

The drum and bugle corps contest was a close thing, averred army officers who acted as judges.

Emeryville Post of the American Legion won first place with a point score of 89.26 per cent. The gorgeously garbed Red Devils of San Jose took second place with a score of 89.18, Sunset Post of San Francisco was third with a score of 87.34. iFrst prize was $100 cash.

The crowd amused itself following the contest with the concessions at the school grounds. At 7:30 in the evening, Ben Matehws, Centerville parachute man, jumped from a plane and landed in Stiver's grain field.

A band concert, fireworks and a dance at the high school gymnasium were all well attended.

Holly Sugar Plant Capacity Increased

ALVARADO— Tremendously increased activity in the Holly Sugar Co. plant is planned by company officials for this and following seasons. Half the plant has been rebuilt in time for 1936 operations and rebuilding of the other half will be complete next year.

The changes being effected this season will mean an increase in refining production of 100 tons daily. When alterations are complete, the increase will amount to 500 tons daily, say plant officials.

The plant is starting this season with a daily run of between 1400 and 1500 tons. The company expects to employ about 300 men this season.

Some new equipment has been added to the plant in order to speed up operations.

WARREN RECALL PETITIONS NOW IN CIRCULATION

NILES—Petition for the recall of Earl Warren as district attorney was circulated in Niles Tuesday afternoon by Miss Marie LePleux of Scott's Corners.

Miss LePleux said she has several petitions in circulation in Oakland and that she plans to get 30,000 signatures before filing.

The petition alleges that Earl Warren has conducted the business of his office in an inefficient manner by reason of his "outside political activities."

It alleges further that he neglected to have issued a warrant for the arrest of Donald Fraser on a manslaughter charge as the result of an automobile accident in September, 1934, in which Miss LePleux' mother, Mrs. Anny Py, was fatally injured.

The petition Miss LePleux circulated in Niles had 50 signatures Tuesday evening.

CREW BUSY ON NEW RAILWAY UNDERPASS ON VALLEJO STREET

NILES—The $800,000 highway improvement and under pass program got under way here early this week when state highway officials and contractors put a crew to work on the under pass on Vallejo street.

PILINGS SUNK

A crew of nearly one dozen men has started sinking pilings for a trestle which will carry the railroad tracks. When the trestle is built, excavation work will start to open the roadway under the tracks. This method will insure no interruption of train service while the work is under way.

In another month or two, engineers expect to have about 100 men working on the project. A staff of 20 executive engineers will be on the job, says Wayne Deady, resident engineer for the state department.

The underpass will be 70 feet wide at the top and have a 44 foot roadbed with five foot sidewalks on each side.

Engineers believe that by June of next year work will have progressed to the point where the present bridge over Alameda creek can be torn out.

Tearing out the bridge is the one controversial point remaining in the local highway program and numerous residents from across the creek are said to be contemplating some protest action to prevent destruction of their direct route to Niles.

About half the property owners along the new highway route have settled their right-of-way cases wit the state, officials report. Prices are ranging from $750 to $1500 per acre.

Several of the highway condemnation suits were brought to a halt during the first part of the week by attorneys for the landholders, who were granted more time with which to prepare answers to the suits.

They are now working on a temporary bridge which will take care of the traffic during the next 14 months while the permanent bridge is being constructed. A total of eighteen men will be employed on this project.

This new bridge will eliminate the curve which has been a menace to traffic for many years. It will be 24 feet wide and 125 feet long, leaving the highway about 50 feet south of the present bridge.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Make up your mind that it is senseless to quarrel.

You will meet many people that you dislike.

At Least Tolerate Your Neighbor

Many of them will be quarrelsome, conceited, ill tempered. Avoid such people, but tolerate them. They may turn out to be better than you think they are.

There is plenty of room on this earth for human beings of all sorts and kind.

Some of them will differ with you in politics, others in religion.

Some may be downright ugly.

But they are as they are made. Quarreling with them will make you unhappy, and you're going to need all the happiness you can find as you travel through life.

* * *

Some of them may be snobbish and "high hat". You can easily keep away from that sort.

But you will be thrown in with certain people whom you cannot avoid.

They may live next door to you, they may belong to the same church or club, they may intrude themselves upon you in many unpleasant ways.

It will do you no good to "get your back up" when they are around.

You will get only misery out of quarreling with them.

Just convince yourself that there must be that kind of people in the world with you, and that the easiest way is to be as cheerful as possible in their presence, eschew arguments with them, and let them go their own way.

* * *

You can kill mosquitoes and spiders and rattlesnakes and other creatures with which you may be thrown as you go on.

You can't kill human beings without getting into serious trouble. I do not contend that you ought to nurse odious people in your bosom, or try to reform them.

All I suggest is that if you must be with them you will not be unhappy about it, but get along as well you can.

And now and then you are pretty sure to find that somebody you thought was a pest was a really good sort when you came to know him well, and that you lost a good deal by not getting better acquainted with him.

* * *

Dislike reacts on the person who harbors it. Better figure that wherever you go you will find men and women who are constant irritations to you.

Leave them alone if you can.

If you can't, just be civil and pleasant and if they resent that keep out of their neighborhood.

The chief end of man I honestly believe is happiness.

You can't be happy when you are hating other people.

But toleration will put it out of their power to annoy you.

Try this plan for a couple of weeks. I think you will profit by it.

That's a Peptimist

A Pessimist closes an eye, wrinkles his face, draws up the corners of his mouth, and says, "It can't be done."

An Optimist has a face full of sunshine. He beams on you and says, "It can be done"—and then lets Joe "do it."

But a Pep-ti-mist takes off his coat, rolls up his sleeves, and goes to it, and does it.

Household Questions

Air the bread and cake boxes frequently during the summer months. Mould is likely to form on breads and cakes kept in boxes during the warm weather.

* * *

Chamois wet in cold water and wrung dry will polish mahogany furniture that has become cloudy.

* * *

Do not remove husks from green corn until just before putting on to boil. Corn spoils quickly, so it should be used as soon as possible after purchasing.

* * *

When cake or bread is too brown or is burned, grate gently with a fine grater (nutmeg grater preferred) until the cake or bread is a golden brown.

* * *

A little garlic rubbed over the broiler on which steak is broiled gives steak a delicious flavor.

* * *

Always strain hot fat used for deep frying through a piece of cheese cloth each time it is used and set in a cool place. Treated in this way fat may be used many times.

* * *

Sandwiches may be kept moist for 24 hours if they are wrapped tight as soon as made, in waxed paper, then placed in a box lined with a damp cloth and covered with a cloth. Keep in a cool place.

* * *

Mayonnaise may be kept for several weeks in refrigerator if a tablespoonful of boiling water is added to it before bottling.

* * *

Never put hot foods in your refrigerator or ice box. Wait until they have cooled.

* * *

Mix salads with a fork instead of a spoon or ladle.

For Style-Conscious Little Girls

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

IT IS with ever increasing enthusiasm that designers are yielding to the urge of catering to the needs and fancies of style-conscious little girls.

The story of the modern child's wardrobe resolves itself into many chapters dealing with all phases of fashion. Beginning with simple, novel and amusing beach, swim and playtime togs and cunning sun suits, the plot carries on through thrilling adventures in the realm of smart school and dressy daytime clothes reaching a grand and glorious climax in a way of entrancing pretty-pretty party frocks that make every little girl look like a fairy princess of story book lore.

For practical daytime and playtime frocks the call is outstanding for cotton reps, gabardines, chambrays, crinkled seersuckers (no ironing required is their big appeal), ginghams, novelty cottons soft and spongy, piques and most important, new lines both plain and printed. Now that a sturdy non-crush type of linen is obtainable mothers are jubilant, for in it they have discovered the fabric ideal to withstand the vigorous test of the wear and tear of the thousand and one antics which little folks enjoy in a day's sport.

Perhaps the most exciting news is gay printed linens in bold patterns and colorings. Peasant designs in a blaze of daring colors abound and these rustic prints are especially good-looking when made up into separate little coats with hats to match. Florals in effective spacing, cunning animal, vegetable and fruit motifs on the new printed linens are a special lure to children. Then there are the exquisitely sheer printed handkerchief linens and the fine dimities which are adorable for dress-up wear.

Lace-trimmed organdie or georgette is a favorite theme this season with the designers of little-girl party dresses. Georgette made over taffeta is shown quite a little. A significant trend is the use of pastel colors which seem to have almost gained precedence over all white.

In the matter of styling, the princess silhouette is a great favorite while most sleeves are just short puffs. Note the dress worn by the little girl with the gorgeous doll in the picture. Her smart school and playtime dress is of firm linen cut on the new princess lines. Gay striped printed linen is used as a bordering. The style distinction of this charming dress will make instant appeal to both mother and little daughter.

The other two children are looking their prettiest in dainty party frocks or perhaps they took part in "last day of school" exercises. At any rate their little pleated sheer frocks are lovely and will be a joy the whole summer through. The wee maiden to the left is wearing an accordion pleated voile as charming in pastel colors as it is in white. A wide sash about her waist ties at the back in a huge butterfly bow.

Tiers of narrow pleatings animate the frock centered in the group. The vogue for pleating is as pronounced in children's fashions as in grown-up styles. The pleatings about the neckline extend over the short puff sleeves so as to achieve the new-vogue wide shoulder line.

IT'S EMBROIDERED

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The latest call of the mode is for frocks of monotone silk crepe with complementary jackets made of the identical silk crepe of the dress, the same handsomely allover embroidered in bright contrasting colors. In the instance of the model pictured the sport dress is of pink silk crepe with a short-sleeved box jacket of the same crepe embroidered with green and blue wool. Blue buttons are on the dress.

Short-Term Wigs

Wigs are proving popular among fashionable women in London, who use them to cover hair while it is regaining its natural color after a "blond" period.

Black Is Smart

Much black is shown for summer wear with tailored white jackets and white accessories.

DESIGNERS PRESENT SKIRT INNOVATIONS

Unusual color combinations and a strong Oriental influence characterize the new Alix collection. Some skirts are so full and flaring that they resemble parachutes or lamp shades, while others, are caught under at the hem like Turkish trousers.

The feminine silhouette is stressed at all times and clothes at Alix are fashioned to display a slender waistline and curving hip line. For day wear, bodices are skin tight and are usually made with a high neck trimmed with bows or loops of material. All clothes show a certain amount of fullness at the hip, and this is frequently stressed by the use of a full and flaring peplum.

Glamorous Apparel Wins Approval of Parisiennes

For the polo matches, the races and late afternoon occasions of summer in Paris, it is now the smartest fashion to wear frocks and hats of the glamorous variety. Sheer fabrics like organdie are altogether enchanting and feminine for frocks with wide and sweeping skirts and hats with wide and flattering brims.

These decorative full-skirted frocks, with little capes or puffed sleeves, have not by any means replaced the tailored evening costume with a jacket, an important fashion for parties from five o'clock on. Daylight dining will enhance this tailored idea.

Culottes More Popular

The fashion for culottes (divided skirts) is no longer confined to the active sports field, say stylists. They will be seen everywhere for all daytime occasions this summer. Last season saw them first spring into popularity for sailing, bicycling and beach wear.

Uncle Phil Says:

See the Bright Side

The world may be pretty sordid, but one does not have to contemplate that phase of it too much. It has others that are brighter.

The best angle from which to approach any problem is the try angle.

One needs to learn how to enjoy two or three hours of quiet reflection. You can't be entertained every waking moment.

Don't Stay with Evil

If you have been tempted into evil, fly from it; it is not falling into the water, but lying in it that drowns.

The people of Europe stay mad at each other all the time. They are as bad as our mountain feudists.

Many people talk about the value of saving—that's jawbone. Some folks wish they had saved—that's wishbone. A few resolve to save, and do it—that's backbone.

There Should Be a Law

The law can compel a man to pay taxes. Why can't it compel him to take an interest in the affairs of his government?

All you need in order to revel in Nature is a tent, a cot, a pan of bacon and eggs, and immeasurable love of the woods.

Sometimes a man has no confidence in other men because he has none in himself.

A Friend Cheers

When your friend remains with you to cheer you at a time you are unhappy that's the acid test.

Alas, one fears there is getting to be more horse-power than horse-sense in a machine age.

Displays of temper are sheer waste of vitality. They help nobody and hinder everybody.

The Truth About Golf

There has been so much mystery, bunk and high-pressure salesmanship surrounding golf that many a would-be golfer has hesitated to take it up, and many who have taken lessons have soon struck snags which have hindered their pleasure in the game. It is true that golf is a game you cannot learn by yourself, because there is no such thing as a "born" or "natural" golf swing. But there is so much health and pure enjoyment to be had out of fairly well-played golf that it is worth while making the few sacrifices the game demands.

There are some things the human being does naturally, such as walking, running, striking with the right hand, throwing or catching a ball. Other things, like the golf swing, are unnatural; therefore the muscles must be trained and set in those unnatural channels. Golf players call it "grooving a swing". And there are simply no short cuts to it. Only one thing will "groove" a muscle so that it performs an unnatural action naturally, and that is practice, practice and more practice.

The whole hubbub about golf revolves around the fact that human beings are lazy They don't want to work for their fun, and practice is work. They are forever looking for short cuts, or easy ways to learn. . . .—Paul Gallico in Cosmopolitan.

FOUR TEASPOONFULS OF MILK OF MAGNESIA IN ONE TASTY WAFER

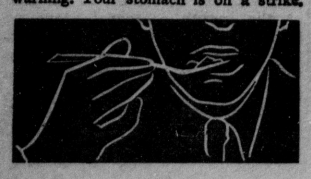
The successful person is a healthy person. Don't let yourself be handicapped by sick headaches, a sluggish condition, stomach "nerves" and other dangerous signs of over-acidity.

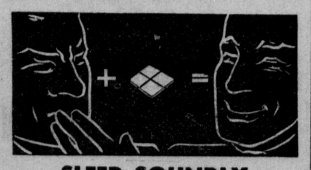
TAKE MILNESIAS

Milnesia, the original milk of magnesia in wafer form, neutralizes stomach acid. Each wafer equals 4 teaspoonfuls of milk of magnesia. Thin, crunchy, mint-flavor, tasty. 20c, 35c & 60c at drug stores.

HEARTBURN?

Its surprising how many have heart burn. Hurried eating, overeating, heavy smoking, excessive drinking all lead to heartburn. When it comes, heed the warning. Your stomach is on a strike.





SLEEP SOUNDLY

Lack of exercise and injudicious eating make stomachs acid. You must neutralize stomach acids if you would sleep soundly all night and wake up feeling refreshed and really fit.

Shrimp Tomato

Peel firm tomatoes, remove pulp and chill thoroughly. Mix equal amounts of canned shrimp and chopped celery and marinate for half an hour in French dressing. Drain this mixture and fill the tomatoes. Served on individual plates, surrounded with watercress and topped with a mayonnaise flower (made with a cake decorator) these make a delicious entree. One can of shrimp and an equal amount of celery will fill four to six tomatoes.

Tomato Supreme

Select six firm tomatoes; peel and remove pulp. Set in refrigerator to chill. Soften two-thirds of a tablespoon of gelatin in one-fourth cup of cold water; add three-fourths of a cup of hot boiled salad dressing; cool; add one-half cup of chopped celery, one-half green pepper chopped, one pimiento chopped; one cup of chopped chicken, salt and paprika to taste and two teaspoons of vinegar.

Put into tomato shells and chill until firm. Serve on lettuce and top with a spoonful of salad dressing.

Housewives Require Hot Weather Dishes

With the descent of warm weather, township housewives naturally are changing their menus around. Following is a list of recipes which numerous experts claim is suitable for many a hot weather meal.

Numerous jellied dishes, such as the chicken and tuna described below, are always gratefully received in hot weather. The only difficulty with them is that they are apt to be eaten up pretty fast.

Grape-Juice Punch

Mix one quart of grape-juice with orange-juice, cold tea, and charged water to taste. Add mint leaves, maraschino cherries and thin slices of orange and lemon rind, if desired.

This is a refreshing drink and may be varied by substituting ginger ale for the charged water.

Orange Souffle

3 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons of powdered sugar
Juice of an orange
Grated rind of half an orange
½ cup of grated cake crumbs
½ tablespoon of lemon juice
¼ teaspoon of salt
1½ tablespoons of currants

Beat the yolks of the eggs thoroughly; add the powdered sugar, the orange rind and the cake crumbs which have been soaked in the orange juice, the lemon juice and the salt.

Mix well and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whitesandthecurrants. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake for twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

Serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Grape Punch

1 pint grape juice
1 cup sugar
1 quart water
Juice of two lemons
Juice of 1 orange

Heat water and sugar until the sugar is dissolved. Cool. Add the fruit juice and chill. Serve with ice and slices of lemon.

Melon Ball Cocktail

Cut melon in half and remove seeds. Scoop out balls, using French cutter or the 1-2 teaspoon in your measuring set for this purpose. Cover with grapefruit juice to which a few drops of lime juice has been added. Chill thoroughly. At serving time arrange in cocktail glasses and garnish with mint.

Jellied Tuna Fish

1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup tuna fish flaked
1 cup peas
2 tablespoons pimento, finely chopped
½ cup mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in water, add vinegar and salt. When slightly thickened fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into mold. Chill and serve on elttuce, with additional mayonnaise.

Jellied Chicken

1½ cups chicken stock
1 cup diced celery
1 small onion
1½ tablespoons gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups cooked chicken, cut up
½ cup chopped nut meats
Paprika
½ cup whipped cream
Lettuce and asparagus

Simmer stock, celery and onion for half hour. Strain, add gelatin which has been softened in cold water . Stir until dissolved. Run chicken through the food chopper. Add to first mixture with seasoning and whipped cream. Turn into mold. Chill. Unmold and serve on lettuce garnished with asparagus tips marinated in French dressing.

Jellied Ginger Pear Salad

Heat to the boiling point 8 halves of canned pears, 2 cups canned pear juice, 1 tablespoon chopped preserved ginger, and 2 tablespoons ginger syrup. Remove pears and arrange rounded side up in shallow pan. Add 1-8 teaspoon salt and 1 package lemon flavored gel atin to the boiling syrup. Stir until dissolved, then pour over the pears. Chill until set; cut in squares. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

Tomato, Cream Cheese and Peanut Salad

Mix 1 package of cream cheese, 1 ounce of chopped salted peanuts and enough cream to hold the mixture together. When mixed form into cylinder. Chill. Slice the cheese and serve on lettuce, alternating the cheese slices with slices of tomatoes. Garnish with whole peanuts and serve with French dressing.

Ham a la King

2 cups of diced cooked ham
1¼ cups of water

Mix water, evaporated milk, egg yolks and seasonings and cook slowly in a saucepan. Melt butter and add flour, mixing until smooth. Add to first mixture when it begins to simmer. Stir gently and add the ham, green pepper, mushrooms and pimiento. Serve hot on crisp toast. This recipe will serve six to eight persons.

FLY PROBLEM ON THE FARM

By DR. WILLIAM J. SCHOLES

Flies offer a problem on farms that is considered of sufficient importance to lead the United States department of agriculture to issue some timely suggestions on methods of fly control on farms.

Our Changed Attitude Toward Flies

There was a time when people regarded the fly as just a part of summer. Like the heat, they came in June and left in October. The fact that there were a dozen busy flies in the sugar bowl and three or four deecased ones in the milk pitcher didn't bother people. The only time they annoyed our elders was when one bit them on their bald spot or parked on their nose while trying to take a nap in the shade of the old apple tree. It never occurred to folks that the pie they ate with such great relish was covered with myriads of germs deposited there by the flies who came into the house for dessert after a siesta on the manure pile.

Today, with our increasedknowledge of the menace of the fly as a disease carrier, we are doing everything possible to eliminate this perennial pest. The careless attitude of the past has given way to a determined warfare that is destined to result in the eventual extinction of the fly. In doing this we may be disposing of an agency that is unconsciously serving humanity in destroying other dangerous forms of life. If so, we will have to meet that new problem if and as it arises. The fact remains, however, that the fly is doing more harm than good, so far as anyone has been able to determine, and has no place in the modern scheme of things.

Fly Control on Farms

The most effective way of controlling flies on the farm is to clean out barns and barnyards on a certain day of each week. The manure should be spread out thinly on the land, as the flies will not breed there. Adding fly poison to manuer in boxes and piles does no good.

Masonic Home News

MASONIC HOME, Decoto—The Fourth of July was pleasantly celebrated at the Masonic Home with a social gathering in the assembly hall Saturday evening, with a large percentage of the members of the home family in attendance.

In honor of the day the auditorium was nicely decorated with patriotic colors, featuring a huge American flag forming the background of the stage. All of the chandeliers and lighting fixtures were decorated . Prominent on the platform besides a smaller national flag and the flag of the Masonic fraternity a large framed picture of George Washington was displayed.

With Supt. Hartman as master of ceremonies the program of entertainment was opened with the singing of two verses of "America." This was followed by the band march, led by Supt. Hartman and Matron Richardson, music for which was furnished by the Happy Hour club orchestra, composed of John Hedley, violin, Elmer Barnes, flute, Leonard Georgias, piano, and James Yarrington, drums. The quartet also favored the gathering with music for the dance, which was enjoyed a little later, and for which W. F. Grey served as floor manager and caller.

Much amusement was created by a series of games, engineered by Supt. Hartman. Another feature was the fine service of ice cream. The happy affair closed at 10 o'clock with a few volleys from rifle producing instruments.

Loyalty to the Home was tested and not found wanting, Sunday afternoon, when at the close of the religious service Supt. Hartman announced that an emergency had arisen by the tardy arrival of a large consignment of strawberries which plans had been made for serving at the evening meal. He called for volunteers for the work of preparing the berries right away. The appeal resulted in about 25 responses.

Reporting for duty in the kitchen and bakery the volunteers donned aprons and put in a busy hour or more, under the direction of Matron Richardson, removing the hulls from the luscious berries and placing them in approximately 400 bowls in season for the evening meal when they were served with equally as delicious slices of cake, along with other items of the attractive bill of fare. In behalf of the Home, Matron Richardson expressed thanks to the volunteers who had so happily donated their services .

As quoted: "We are going to be many years unscrambling the eggs cooked up by the kitchen cabinet of this administration."

The Life We Lead

Never say, "It is nobody's business but my own what I do with my life." It is not true. Your life is put into your hands as a trust for many others beside yourself. If you use it well, it will make many others happy; if you abuse it, it will harm many others beside yourself.

Rice, Semi-Aquatic Plant

Rice is a semi-aquatic plant growing to an average height of from three to four feet. The plant when raised in a fair soil will have from ten to thirty tillers or side shoots as the plant matures, each bearing a head which resembles the head of an oat plant.

Frank Madruga, Judge Allen G. Norris, Harry De Leon and all the other Centerville Lions are rapidly making a reputation for Washington Township through the high quality of entertainment and patriotic observance they offer each year on July 4.

The local fourth celebration is the only thing of its kind offered in the Eastbay district. This year, it again drew thousands of persons from all parts of Alameda county. The parade was better than ever, the afternoon and evening programs held everyone's interest.

And the finest thing about the Lions' achievement is the fact that it makse our local community known as a center of genuine Americanism.

The Irvington Junior Chamebr of Commerce is putting up a stiff fight to get the railroad crossings on the Mission road repaired so that unwary drivers won't break their heads against the tops of the cars when they enter town. It is a worthy attempt. Someone did a rotten piece of work when those crossings were made.

If we know the railroads, and we think we do, the Irvington boys will receive the utmost co-operation from them in repairing the crossings.

While things are moving right along in the development of the Decoto sanitation district, it might be a good time to remember that Decoto isn't the only place in the township that has sanitation problems. There are lots of other districts around here that would do well to make some similar provision for the health of its citizens.

We had a letter a while back from the department of internal revenue wanting to know why we had not paid our income tax. We wrote and told them we had attended to that matter back in March. The other day we had another letter which gave us a good bawling out for not answering the first letter and then wound up by saying that we had underpaid the government $8.46 and we had better remit or it would be just too bad, or words to that effect.

We don't expect any particular efficiency from any government department but we do think it would look better if they would be a little more consistent.

Registration books are now open again; and in a year when so many important questions are to be decided, everybody in Washington Township who is eligible, should take advantage of that fact. Mr. Olson at Decoto, Mayme Roderick Alvarodo, James Collins and A. E. Francis at Newark, Manuel Lewis at Centerville, James Humhpries and Bob Wright at Irvington, Joe Brown at Warm Springs, J. E. Rogers at the Mission and Mrs. M. L. Fournier and Cy Solon at Niles are all eager and willing to sign you up on the dotted line. It won't cost you a cent.

One of those tattoo artists has invaded the township. By rights he should be run out.

There are few grown men who will bother to have themselves tattooed. The tramps who tour the small towns making a living by tattooing, take the money off of the boys who don't have any better sense.

Unless there is some way to make the fellow leave, there will be a lot of exasperated parents around here before he pulls stakes.

Gov. Alf Landon's popularity among Republicans and the so-called American "middle class" generally has rested thus far on one point; he has balanced the budget in the state of Kansas whose government he heads.

In a nation which is rapidly growing sick of debt and panicky over how it will pay its bills, it is natural that those voters who are most worried should hunt for a man who gives some promise of being able to stop the threatening debacle. Landon has been stlected.

But Landon's budget balancing abilities will be roundly criticized as the campaign grows hotter. New Dealers will wallop him on two points:

They will ask him to prove that he balanced the budget without federal funds.

They will also ask him to show how he can balance the United States government's budget if he is elected.

Those questions are both tough ones.

If Landon can answer them forcefully and with the same simple appeal that his opponent is so skilled in, he stands a chance to win the election.

If he proves to be a weak campaigner, there will be four more years of Roosevelt.

FUTURE RODEO STAR

With a full program of western sports, the Silver Jubilee of the California Rodeo will be celebrated at Salinas July 16 to 19, inclusive, and preparations have been made to entertain the largest crowds in the history of the event. Here is shown little Barrylee Foster, juvenile cowgirl, who will participate in the Kiddie Kapers, a feature of the four-day celebration.

City Life

AS SEEN FROM WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP

Minced ham and egg sandwiches are the favorites among passengers who patronize the ferry lunch counters, say attendants. They can't say why this is so. They just know it is. Crullers—doughnuts which have gone straight—are another favorite, apparently. At least the boats are always "just out" whenever we want to order any.

We believe there are more stewbums on Folsom street than on any other street north of Los Angeles and west of Chicago. They lie snoozing beerily on the sidewalks in full daylight, happy as though they were on a salary, right where any passerby has to walk around or over them. The San Francisco police apparently are so busy keeping their mouths shut that they just leave 'em lay.

If any township resident has the time and inclination to take on a little education during the summer, there is plenty all around. Berkeley, San Jose State and Mills college are all right in our back yard (heh heh) and they all have a stimulating lot of courses.

Mills college won out on the big names this year. Novelist Jules Romains will conduct a course "Civilization, Literature and Politics," the entire course to be given in French. William Rose Benet, poet, is going to conduct a verse writing class. And Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, famous U. S. Women's singles champion, is going to give tennis instruction. We hear Romains is going to get an LLP from Mills.

Washington Township may not have as many movies as the cities and we may not get all the first run pictures quite so soon, but William Helm's theater at Niles does have head-phones for deafened people, which is more than most of the Oakland shows can claim. There is only one theater in the city of Oakland equipped to take care of those who cannot hear well.

Prices for many things show a sharp contrast between San Francisco and Los Angeles. In the southern city you can get a room with a private bath in a second class hotel for $3.50 a week. In San Francisco $6 is about the lowest for similar accommodation. An auto laundry in San Francisco charges $1.50 to give your car a "plain wash." In Los Angeles an auto laundry charges 50 cents, and does a better job. In Los Angeles you can get a suit cleaned and pressed for 39 cents on a cash and carry basis. In San Francisco 50 cents is the minimum. Laundry likewise is cheaper in the south. Ten cents is the standard price for a shoe shine. Plenty of Los Angeles shops charge only 25 cents for a hair cut, where 50 cents and 65 cents are the rule in San Francisco. Los Angeles cafeterias are noted for the variety and low prices of their viands. The average ceck is perhaps 10 per cent less than in San Francisco. Los Angeles has filled up again, and apartments and flats are scarce.

TOMATO INSECTS CONTROL SUBJECT

BERKELEY — With the discovery b ythe food and drug administration, Washington, D. C., of a method of detecting the number of insect parts contained in canned tomato products, and the placing of a tolerance on the number ,the control of tomato insect pests has become an important subject to the growesr of California. To meet this situation, circular 99 of the University of California agricultural extension servace has been published, written by Prof. E. O. Essig and A. E. Michelbacher, junior entomologist. The circular may be obtained from the College of Agriculture at Berkeley, or from any farm advisor.

The more important pests of tomato vines and fruit are, according to the circular, corn earworm, tomato pinworm, Potato tuber moth, tobacco worm, many different species of noctuid moths, several beetles, thrips, aphids and leaf hoppers.

The circular takes up each major pest, describes is life history, and gives advice for control. Methods of applying sprays and dust sare given and there is a discussion of the general treatment of the young tomato plants in the field.

FIGHT PICTURES AT NILES SHOW FOR LAST TIME

NILES — The Louis - Schmeling fight pictures, which have been attracting crowds of theater-goers in all parts of the bay district, will appear for the last time in Niles tonight. Manager William Helm brought the film here in connection with the regular feature showing of Al Jolson in the "Singing Kid."

Tomorrow and Saturday, one of the most thrilling foreign legion pictures of the year, "Under Two Flags," with Ronald Colman and Claudette Colbert will form the billing.

Sunday and Monday, "Sutter's Gold," which depicts realistically the early gold rush days in California and the fabulous figure who nearly founded an empire in this state, will be shown. Edwin Arnold and Lee Tracy do unusual bits of characterization in the film. Harry Carey, old time western actor, steals several scenes with his bit as Kit Carson.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, theater patrons will come prepared to laugh at Joe E. Brown in "Sons of Guns."

Speed Scare Persists

Until the coming of the railways, the greatest sustained speed ever attained by man was established by the Roman Emperor Tiberius. Using relays of chariots, he sped to his dying brother, Drusus, at the rate of 200 miles a day.

For centuries man shook his head dubiously at every new proposal to increase the speed of land travel. When the locomotive was invented it was predicted that speeds of 30 miles an hour would prove fatal to human beings. Today airplanes travel at 250 miles and more an hour. Yet there persists the same haunting fear that at some still greater speed the human system will suddenly collapse.—Washington Star.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

The publicity seeker—and his name is the well-known legion—is one of the banes of the life of a New York newspaper man. Hardly a liner arrives but that an individual, or some one representing some one else, comes to the ship news reporters with the suggestion of a "good story." Experts in their line, the ship news men are quick to weed out the phonies. Occasionally one slips through and that encourages others. Ship news photographers are equally besieged. Reporters assigned to City Hall get their full share of the publicity hounds, phonies visiting there daily in the hope of wangling a line or two of print. All big trials, of course, attract them in numbers. Last year, many made the journey to Flemington, N. J., and obtained tickets to the Hauptmann trial not only because of interest in the proceedings but in the hope of mention.

* * *

Many of those whose earnest desire is publicity are meal tickets for press agents. They don't care much what is said about them so long as they get into the papers. So the press agents dig up ancient gags and attach names of their clients. Or they manufacture bright stuff and accredit to some one who never had an idea—save seeing his name in type. Many actors, fortunate enough to have engagements, do not depend on the press agent of the show but employ press agents of their own. Radio performers do the same. With them, however, it is strictly business. But they have stern competition with a lot of amateurs.

* * *

That yearning for publicity has been capitalized by others than press agents. Night clubs frequented by columnists, other scribblers and photographers play to such a clientele. All sorts of courtesies are extended to the ladies and gentlement of the press because their presence draws a class of trade willing to spend money, and that balances up whatever may be consumed "on the house."

* * *

Down in Miami recently, George Ade, Bruce Barton, John N. Wheeler and Grantland Rice called on Carl Fisher, who developed Miami Beach and who lost his fortune in the development of Montauk Point. In the course of reminiscences, Mr. Fisher told a story of Barney Oldfield with whom he was closely associated in the old days. Oldfield was racing on a small track on a bad day with not more than a thousand persons present. The greasy track and a blowout caused him to crash through the fence and kill or severely injure two spectators. Later Oldfield informed Fisher that if every man, woman and child, who had shaken hands with him since that accident and told him they were present when it happened, had been truthfully there there would have been such a large and lucrative crowd he never would have had to drive again.

* * *

Another press agent yarn just bobbed up. It seems that the publicity man of a well-known night club was eager to get in touch with one of the editors of a weekly magazine in the hope of landing a radio spot for one of his clients. For three weeks he haunted the editor's office with no success. Worn out and in despair, he went to the club that employed him one evening and began to soak up his boss' liquor. While so doing, he met a pleasant companion and they drank together until 3 a. m. As they were parting, they exchanged names. You've guessed it—the drinking pal was the editor and not once had the client's name been mentioned!

* * *

The doorman of an East side apartment house told me of the cranky tenant whose tempers for six months or more kept the entire staff in an upset state. Nothing could please him—he had a complaint concerning everything that was done or left undone. To make matters worse, he never tipped. From porter to superintendent, all willingly would have attended his hanging. Recently, he surrendered his lease and moved to the country. On his departure, he left an envelope for each employee. In each, was a final complaint, one that fairly blistered. But with it was a $50 bill. The currency turned out to be real, and all employees of that house are still going around a trifle dazed.

* * *

Bus top eavesdropping: "If I was her, I wouldn't go anywhere with him any more. When he takes her out, he treats her just as mean as he does his own wife."

FRANCE FEARS AIR RAID ON CHARTRES

Airport Near Old Cathedral Mark for Bombs.

Chartres, France.—The towers of the famous cathedral of this little city of the Beauce overlook a great military aviation field beyond the River Eure and the vista is disquieting.

The proximity of the cathedral and airdrome worries inhabitants of this town. Throughout the land there is a consciousness of the importance of the cathedral of Chartres, comparable as an architectural monument to the Parthenon or St. Peter's. The airfield will be a target for enemy bombs when the war Europe fears actually materializes. All of the bombs may not fall on the aviation field.

Even with the example of the bombardment of the cathedral of Reims before them, inhabitants of Chartres are loath to believe that any aviator deliberately would drop a bomb on the cathedral itself, thus threatening the finest early Gothic spire in France, which adorns the southern side of the main facade, or the finest late Gothic spire in France, which occupies its northern angle. But no direct hit would be necessary to destroy a treasure even greater than that of the body of the cathedral itself, because there is literally nothing like it anywhere else, with one minor exception, the Thirteenth century glass which is the unique glory of the cathedral.

Glass Not Duplicated.

Except for a few panes at Bourges, there is no Thirteenth century glass in France except the tremendous wealth constituted by the 24 windows of Chartres, which still hold their old glass, whose beauty modern science has never been able to duplicate. The glass is priceless, literally, for there is no standard by which it can be compared. It is (except for those fragments at Bourges) all there is in the world.

Experts estimate that an ordinary bomb exploding 750 meters from the cathedral will shatter every one of those irreplaceable windows. The aviation field is only 1,500 meters away. The chances that any intensive bombardment of the air field will blow in the cathedral's windows are thus good.

Alarmed by this prospect, the committee for the preservation of French art engaged Achille Carlier, an expert, to work out a plan for the dismantling of the windows of Chartres and storing them safely away within an hour—the time it would take a bombing plane—reported as it crossed the frontier—to reach Chartres.

Precaution to Be Costly.

Carlier has worked out his plan, but it will cost $30,000. As all preparations must be made in advance and the French government is not likely to pay until the emergency has arrived, there is the danger that the plan might fail.

During the World war it was decided to take out and store the windows of the cathedral. The work required five months. This time a delay of five months—or even five days, or five hours—might prove disastrous.

There are 5,478 panels of Thirteenth century glass at Chartres, divided among 37 low windows, 34 high windows, and the three great rose windows of transepts and facade, with their lancettes, one of which is the "Tree of Jesse," one of the most famous individual stained-glass windows in the world, whose fame is perhaps only rivaled by the Virgin on the right-hand aisle of the church, far down by the choir.

To Figure Earth Curvature

The curvature of the earth in a mile is about eight inches. It varies as the square of the distance, that is, the curvature in two miles is four times 8 inches, or 32 inches. How far away is the natural horizon to a man standing and looking over level ground or water? If the man's eyes are five feet above ground, and no allowance is made for the refraction of the atmosphere, the horizon that he sees is two and three-quarters miles away. Owing to the refraction, however, the distance is actually greater. If interested in pursuing the subject, write to the United States Geodetic Survey, Washington, D. C., for the corrections for curvature and refraction used in firing long-range guns and in navigation.

Minnesota's Timber-Cut Sets a Seven-Year High

St. Paul.—Twenty thousand axes produced a miniature thunder in Minnesota last winter, with the timber business better than it has been in seven years.

The temperature has touched 50 below zero; swamps and tote roads are strong enough to bear the tractors in this modern woods raid.

M. J. Thornton, state surveyor general, estimated that 50,000,000 board feet of timber was taken, a 350 per cent increase over the average cut of the last five years.

Norfolk Was Founded Soon After Jamestown Colony

Less than 30 years after the first permanent English settlement in America was made at Jamestown on May 13, 1607, Norfolk had its beginning, writes Georgia Dickinson Wardlaw in the Richmond Times Dispatch.

At that time, this section of Virginia was inhabited by the Chesapeake Indians, one of many tribes under the powerful Powhatan and with whom Capt. Christopher Newport's men had a skirmish immediately after landing—and originally, the site of Norfolk was the location of an Indian village called Skicoak.

The year 1936 commemorates three notable aniversaries in Norfolk's history: The three hundredth anniversary of the granting of land covered by Norfolk county today, which was made in 1636 to Henry Frederick Howard, Lord Maltravers, who honored his kinsman, the duke of Norfolk, by naming the section Norfolk—

The two hundredth anniversary of the granting of the "Royal Charter of Norfolk Borough" on September 15, 1736—and

The one hundred and sixtieth aniversary of the burning of Norfolk by the British on January 1, 1776.

Originally the counties of Nansemond, Norfolk, and Princess Anne were one—called New Norfolk county. Soon after being explored, the territory was divided into Upper and Lower Norfolk counties. Today, Nansemond county embraces the section that was once Upper Norfolk, while Lower Norfolk is now Norfolk and Princess Anne counties.

In the beginning, the entire section was laid off in parishes, and a church erected in each parish. The early settlers established themselves on farms along the bays and rivers, where they built wharves at which ships from England and Holland could land and discharge and receive cargoes. For 75 years after the settlement at Jamestown, there were no other towns of any commercial importance in Virginia.

In the year 1682, the Virginia assembly authorized the payment of 10,000 pounds of "tobacco and casks" to Nicholas Wise for 50 acres of his land on the eastern branch of the Elizabeth river. The purpose and payment was for the founding of a town, and the town was Norfolk.

Plague of Cats Overruns Interior of Australia

The cat family, which is carnivorous, had never penetrated Australia until the advent of the white man, less than 150 years ago. That is why Australia's native fauna, which for the most part is herbivorous, has survived from a pre-carnivorus age.

Now, however, thousands of domesticated cats, gone wild, are waging ferocious war on the native bird life of the uninhabited or sparsely populated interior, and, in some districts, wiping it out altogether.

"On a trip of 1,600 miles from north Queensland down to Lake Eyre," Ion Idriess, the author, remarked, "I saw countless thousands of those cats. Apparently they have been breeding over a score of years, and have grown much larger than the ordinary domestic cat."

Idriess reports that at one water hole he saw 50 cats fighting and tearing one another to pieces while hundreds more snarled down from the trees. Cockatoos and parrots seem to be surviving because they can defend themselves, but other native birds are being decimated.
